An Invitation to start an Eco Parish: Are you interested in climate change but do not know where to start? Do you feel it is such a huge issue that it overwhelms you? Would you like to make a difference right here in Douglas/Rochestown?

The parish is committed to becoming one of a growing number of Eco parishes in Ireland. An Eco parish looks at areas such as lifestyle, community outreach, worship, church buildings and the developing world from an environmental perspective. We are encouraged to celebrate the gift of creation, recognise the inter-dependence of all and care for creation in our lives and community.

The parish is setting up a steering committee to support the parish to become more eco-friendly. If you would like to get involved, contact Mary Turnbull or Katherine Dullaghan via the Parish Offices 021 4894128 or 021 4896797.
